01. SCOPE AND ENFORCEMENT

As a leading luxury goods group, Compagnie Financière Richemont SA is the owner of prestigious Maisons and businesses, recognised for their excellence in designing, manufacturing, distributing, and selling timeless jewellery, watches, fashion and accessories and creations and renowned for their distinctive heritage (together Richemont).

In the conduct of its activities, Richemont is committed to complying with all applicable laws, regulations and internationally recognised standards, particularly in regard to the rights of its employees and their representatives, environmental protection, human rights, fair competition and anti-corruption efforts. Furthermore, Richemont is dedicated to conducting business ethically, with integrity and transparency.

Richemont expects each of its subsidiaries to adopt and adhere to this Supplier Code of Conduct (Code) and to make it available to its employees and to its suppliers, distributors, authorised dealers, boutique operators, service providers, landlords and business partners (collectively Suppliers).

Likewise, Richemont expects all its Suppliers to adhere to the same principles. Consequently, Richemont, respectively its subsidiaries, require all Suppliers to comply with the principles and rules defined in this Supplier Code of Conduct. Compliance with this Code is a fundamental prerequisite for initiating or continuing a business relationship with any Richemont entity. Additionally, Richemont expects Suppliers to require that their own partners and subcontractors uphold standards equivalent to those set out in the Code.

For the purposes of this Code, workers include employees (such as student workers, temporary workers, migrant workers), as well as contract workers, externally contracted personnel, freelancers, and any other person(s) providing labour and employment services to a Supplier (Workers).

Richemont and/or its subsidiaries will investigate and if necessary, take appropriate remedial actions when a Code violation is suspected, taking into account the severity, scope and nature of the alleged breach. Such actions may include, but are not limited to, the partial or complete suspension of the business relationship (e.g., refusal to accept deliveries, returning goods already delivered, conducting on-site compliance audits at the Supplier's expense, or seeking indemnification on behalf of affected parties) until compliance is restored, or the termination of the contractual relationship with the Supplier. Where possible, under circumstances where Suppliers have shown a commitment to improvement, Richemont will endeavor to provide guidance, assistance and/or training to support Suppliers in improving their practices to comply with the Code.

This Code is aligned with the Richemont Standards of Business Conduct. This Code can be amended from time to time. The most recent version is available on Richemont's website.

Any provisions of this Code that are not relevant and/or proportionate to the specific business activities of a Supplier will not be applicable to that Supplier. Upon signature, the Code will apply to all business relations between the Supplier and any subsidiary of Richemont.

02. KEY REGULATIONS AND STANDARDS

Suppliers are expected to comply with all laws and regulations applicable to their operations. Furthermore, Suppliers shall respect workplace human rights as defined by the eleven fundamental instruments of the International Labour Organization (ILO). Suppliers shall also comply with the requirements of internationally and industry-recognised standards (Standards), such as the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights (UNGPs), the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises (OECD Guidelines), the OECD Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Business Conduct (OECD Guidance) and the OECD Due Diligence Guidance for Responsible Supply Chains of Minerals from Conflict-Affected and High-Risk Areas (OECD Conflict Minerals Due Diligence Guidance), and when applicable, the Responsible Jewellery Council (RJC) Code of Practices (COP), as well as any relevant Richemont policies published on Richemont's website (Policies).

Suppliers are encouraged to disclose any risks or potential inability to comply with applicable laws and regulations, Standards and/or Policies.

In instances where applicable domestic laws or regulations and the requirements of this Code diverge or conflict, Suppliers shall adhere to the higher standard to the fullest extent possible without contravening domestic rules.

14. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Suppliers must avoid both actual and potential conflicts of interest involving Richemont's business. A conflict of interest consists of any circumstance that may compromise Supplier's ability to act with objectivity and in the best interests of Richemont. Suppliers shall promptly disclose to Richemont and/or to the relevant subsidiary any actual or perceived conflict of interest as well as any underlying information.

15. TRANSPARENCY AND TRACEABILITY

Transparency and traceability are essential to allow Richemont to meet its disclosure and reporting requirements and stakeholders' expectations. Richemont indeed publicly discloses certain information. This information includes, but is not limited to, annually aggregated data on Richemont's social and environmental responsibility programmes.

Richemont defines transparency as the capacity to identify the name and location of all actors in the supply chain up to the origin of the raw material. Traceability is defined as a process by which Richemont tracks materials and products through the supply chain. Traceability criteria and scope depend on the supply chain and/or the product to be traced. Whilst Richemont acknowledges that there is no single solution for transparency and traceability particularly along complex supply chains, it requires its Suppliers to actively engage their supply chain to increase both transparency and the traceability of their products and inform Richemont of production and extraction sites. Any changes regarding the name and location of supply chain actors shall be notified to Richemont.

16. DUE DILIGENCE & AUDIT RIGHTS

Richemont, respectively its subsidiaries have established a risk-based due diligence system involving a comprehensive assessment of the social, environmental and responsible/ethical business practices of Suppliers both at the start of the relationship and throughout its duration. Suppliers shall comply with Richemont's due diligence procedures and provide complete, accurate and timely data/information when requested. Richemont, or its subsidiaries may audit, directly or through authorised third parties, Suppliers in a non-disruptive manner to ensure compliance with applicable laws, this Code as well as the relevant agreement(s) concluded with Suppliers.

Furthermore, to ensure that Richemont is able to meet its regulatory requirements and voluntary undertakings, Richemont may require Suppliers to participate in its risk assessment processes. Such processes include, but are not limited to, working and labour conditions, working time management, maintenance of management systems, onsite health and safety assurance, environmental reporting and the disposition of waste. Suppliers are identified pursuant to Richemont's own assessment mechanisms and are expected to participate as requested. Suppliers are also expected to conduct at least an annual due diligence of their respective supply chains, which includes the use of appropriate risk assessment mechanisms to ensure compliance.

Suppliers may also be required by Richemont or its relevant subsidiary, on an ad hoc basis, to certify their compliance with this Code (or any part of this Code) in writing (including if and when relevant that it has appropriate systems in place to monitor its compliance with this Code) within 30 days of a written request from Richemont or its relevant subsidiary.

17. REPORTING SUSPECTED VIOLATIONS

Suppliers shall promptly report any alleged or established violation of applicable laws or provisions of this Code. Richemont's SpeakUp platform is available to Suppliers, their Workers and any other third party to report incidents. In the event that Richemont receives substantive allegations of violations/misconduct, it reserves the right to investigate the allegations and, where required by law, to disclose all relevant information related to such allegations.

Richemont will not tolerate any retaliation against anyone who reports in good faith or assists in investigations regarding any conduct believed to violate applicable laws or the Code.

Richemont expects its Suppliers to implement in addition their own internal grievance mechanism to allow individuals suspecting misconduct to raise concerns.

18.1 Equivalence

Richemont acknowledges that some Suppliers may have their own code of conduct or equivalent policies or may comply with listing requirements and/or sectorial standards/certifications that meet or exceed the standards set out in this Code, in which case it is their responsibility to confirm equivalence. Notwithstanding any equivalence declaration, Richemont reserves its right to (i) verify the equivalence status through audits or other measures, in accordance with its own risk-based approach and (ii) to object to the Supplier's equivalence statement in the event that Richemont has reasons to believe that the Supplier's policies are not equivalent to the standards set forth in this Code. Any false or misleading declarations may result in the revocation of equivalency status, termination of the contractual relations and potential claims for damages.

18.2 Supplier training

Richemont may require Suppliers to participate in training sessions conducted by Richemont or an authorised third party to assist Suppliers in meeting the standards set forth in this Code. Suppliers are expected to promptly engage in and complete the required training to address and correct identified non-conformities.
